From the valiant John O'Neill's defense of Havre de Grace in the War of 1812 to the arrivals of the B&O Railroad, Aberdeen Proving Ground and Conowingo Dam, the Susquehanna River Valley region has witnessed greatness and change in equal measure. Berry takes his readers to a place where history lives alongside such beloved pastimes as sailing, fishing, decoy carving and thoroughbred racing. With wit and a deft hand, Berry captures the essence of the Susquehanna River Valley's charm.
